

average of the annual Gross Domestic Product Implicit Price Deflator index from the past four years. The Department then calculated weight-averaged annual prices according to the specified nominal delivery volumes for each year to arrive at the long-term contract price. The Department then calculated a simple average of the UPIS U.S. Base Price and the long-term contract price as determined by the Department.

Weighting

The Department used the average spot and long-term volumes of U.S. utility and domestic supplier purchases, as reported by the Energy Information Administration (EIA), to weight the spot and long-term components of the observed price. In this instance, we have used purchase data from the period 1994–1997. During this period, the spot market accounted for 77.66 percent of total purchases, and the long-term market for 22.34 percent.

As in previous determinations, the Department used the Energy Information Administration's (EIA) Uranium Industry Annual to determine the available average spot- and long-term volumes of U.S. utility purchases. We have updated the data to reflect the period 1994 through 1997. The EIA has withheld certain business proprietary contract data from the public versions of the Uranium Industry Annual 1994, Uranium Industry Annual 1995, Uranium Industry Annual 1996 and the Uranium Industry Annual 1997. The EIA, however, provided all business proprietary data to the Department and the Department has used it to update its weighting calculation.

Calculation Announcement

The Department determined, using the methodology and information described above, that the observed market price is $10.85. This reflects an average spot market price of $10.71, weighted at 77.66 percent, and an average long-term contract price of $11.30, weighted at 22.34 percent. Since this price is below $12.00–$13.99 as defined in Appendix A of the suspension agreement with Kazakhstan, Kazakhstan does not receive an Appendix A quota for the period October 1, 1998, to March 30, 1999. This price will also be used, as appropriate, according to Section IV.A. of the Uzbek agreement.

Comments

Consistent with the February 22, 1993, letter of interpretation, the Department provided interested parties the preliminary price determination for this period on September 21, 1998. No interested party submitted comments.
